Tonya Trice

Executive Vice President, Operations, SafeWorks

“[Parkland] took the time to learn the needs of our business prior to reaching out to us. We’ve done similar training before, but the difference with this is that it was based off of what we do here. I feel like Chris [Yates] really addressed our Critical Response needs at SafeWorks and what could be our potential threats...he brought a lot of awareness to our situation that we would not have thought of otherwise.”

“Good class to learn basic electricity and keep you safe. Like the tools, I use them quite often. Paul is a good teacher, very informative. Good to have a teacher that has been in the industry. The training helps you trace the steps back to figure out the problem.”

“One of the tenets of servant leadership is that as leaders, we have the privilege to serve others. That philosophy is at the core of Leading EDGE. They’ve helped me to hone my skills and network with other like-minded servant leaders in our community.”

Lisa Cheely

Director of People Development,
Christie Clinic

“As a business owner of a local law firm, I am so thankful that Parkland College has an affordable way to obtain courses on Microsoft Office Suite. As an employer and attorney litigator, advanced skills with Microsoft Office Suite are invaluable. My team recently had two sessions on Excel via Zoom due to COVID and it went very well. I’m so thankful for local opportunities for advanced education with computer skills that are the backbone of most business operations.”

Cari B. Rincker

Attorney and Mediator,
Rincker Law

“Spanning for over a decade, Parkland College continues to be the #1 resource for our training and education needs. When others have offered methodical training programs, the team at Parkland seeks to gain an in-depth understanding of our goals and is always willing to tailor their approach to achieve them. We have witnessed this in many areas including CPR/AED, Active Shooter, Team Building and Maintenance/HVAC to name a few.”
