

PARKLAND COLLEGE MEDICAL ASSISTING PROGRAM ESSENTIAL QUALIFICATIONS AND HEALTH FORM

Students matriculating in and graduating from the Parkland College Medical Assisting Program must be able to meet the technical requirements of the academic program and must not pose a threat to the well-being of patients, other students, staff or themselves. As an incoming medical assisting student, you will need, at a minimum, the following types of skills and abilities and will need to maintain and demonstrate these abilities throughout the program.

Students are encouraged to discuss their specific academic needs with the course instructor/program director prior to beginning a course of study. Consultation between Accessibility Services, the student and the program director are encouraged in order to address concerns.

- Comprehend and process information.
- Concentrate and not be distracted while performing a task.
- Combine several pieces of information and draw conclusions.
- Apply active listening skills
- Analyze communications in providing appropriate responses/feedback
- Displays mannerly behavior
- Stoop, bend, reach, pull, and push with full range of motion of body joints.
- Push or pull an occupied wheelchair, bed, or cart.
- Ability to lift, push, pull, or carry heavy objects.
- Adequate skin integrity, without the presence of open, weeping lesions
- Gross and fine motor abilities sufficient to perform required functions of patient care; hand-wrist movement, hand-eye coordination, and simple firm grasping required for the fine motor-skills and manipulation.
- Acute auditory and visual skills necessary to detect signs and symptoms.
- Articulate accurate information to others in a professional and courteous manner
- Interpret written word accurately, read characters and identify colors on the computer screen
- Emotional and mental stability.
- Displays appropriate verbal and nonverbal skills
